

SUICIDE AFTER THE WAKE.

Pretty Nora Curry Was Only Nineteen and Wayward.

She Swallowed Laudanum and Oried, "Send for Aunt Ellen."

Nora Curry, a prepossessing girl of nineteen, while visiting friends at 600 East Sixteenth street, drank 10 cents' worth of laudanum shortly after midnight this morning. She was removed to Bellevue Hospital, where she died at 2.30 o'clock.

She had dark hair and eyes and was quite pretty. Her parents died six years ago and she went to live with her grandmother. She afterwards lived with her aunt, Mrs. Ellen Korrigan, in Thirty-second street, near First avenue. She became careless and wayward and an uncle took her away, and since last January she had lived with another aunt named Mrs. Moriarty, on the top floor of the tenement 300 First avenue.

Her grandmother died several months ago, leaving her $700, which was to be kept in the bank until she should become of age.

Nora was a stripper in Ottenberg's cigar factory in East Twenty-second street. She lost her place on Saturday.

She and a young girl named Bridget Sullivan went to a wake at a house on East Twenty-second street, Sunday night. They stayed all night and attended the wake Monday and Tuesday nights also.

On Wednesday Nora and the Sullivan girl paid a visit to Thomas Murphy and his wife, a young couple living at 600 East Sixteenth street. Nora didn't want to go back to her aunt's house, and the Murphy's gave her permission to stay with them for a couple of days.

Last night they played cards until quite late. Nora went out to get a pint of beer. She stayed away nearly an hour.

When she came back she said to the Sullivan girl: "Bridget, send for Aunt Ellen, I've done it."

She then went into an adjoining bedroom, and immediately after Murphy heard a bottle fall on the floor. He ran in and found the girl lying across the bed.

She had taken a large dose of laudanum from a soda-water bottle.

Much time was lost sending the girl to the hospital. She was admitted at 1.10, and although the physicians did all in their power to save her, their efforts were of no avail.

She purchased the laudanum at D. J. Quinn's drug store, 224 Avenue R.

Mrs. Moriarty, the daughter's aunt, said today that Nora was a wild girl. She had not been home for nearly a week.

It is said that Nora made several demands for the money left by her grandmother. She wanted to buy nice clothes, but her relatives would not let her have the money and on this account she was often depressed.

REPORTER FINDS THE OUTLAWS.

Evans and Sontag Interviewed in Their Mountain Fastness.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—An Examiner reporter visited the train-robbers Evans and Sontag Tuesday and Wednesday at a point north of Kings River, Fresno County, and obtained a detailed interview, in which the fugitive bandits described their adventures since the fight at Jim Young's cabin on Aug. 7, when Officers Wilson and McGuinness were killed.

Evans is in perfect health, save for a scratch from a bullet which McGuinness sent from his six-shooter during the fight. Sontag was also shot by McGuinness through the right arm at the same time, but it healed a week ago.

The men are comfortably situated in the high sierras at a point which is almost inaccessible to pursuers, and they have a full winter's supply of provisions.

WHO IS THIS FEMALE CROOK?

An Aged Woman's Adroit Robbery of an Elizabeth House.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 7.—The police of this city have in custody an aged and mysterious female burglar, who refuses to tell where she came from or anything of her past history. She will only say that she is sixty-nine years old and that her name is Emma Smith.

When arrested, she had over $100 in bills in her pockets, was richly dressed and wore a handsome gold watch and chain. In her dress was an extra pocket such as is used by shoplifters. She entered the house of George T. Chapman, Superintendent of the New Jersey Traction Company at 122 Bond street, late yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Chapman found the aged thief ransacking the bureau for valuables.

Mrs. Chapman placed her back to the door and pretended the woman from escaping until Capt. Chapman could be summoned.

When he arrived the woman begged to be released, saying she had only taken $1.25, which was in a purse on the mantle. She handed this to Mrs. Chapman, and the latter, moved to leniency by her appeal, let the woman depart. After she had gone it was discovered that she had again cleverly stolen the $1.25, which Mrs. Chapman had laid out on a table.

The police were then notified, and Patrolman Eckert caught the woman, who offered him $2.50 to let her go.

When taken to the police headquarters and searched a small child was found in her pocket, which she used to pry open the bureau drawers. She also had two keys, one of which opened Mrs. Chapman's door, the other could open the door of the family occupied by the other half of the house.

FRENCH WARSHIPS DUE TO-DAY.

The Arethuse and Hussard to Be in the Naval Parade.

The French warships Arethuse and Hussard are expected to arrive in the port today to take part in the Columbian day naval parade. They left Provincetown, Mass., yesterday, but are making a slow trip.

The Arethuse is the flagship of the French North Atlantic Squadron and the Hussard is a dispatch boat. The former is a full-armed "cruiser" of 3,400 tons displacement, 277 feet long and 43 feet beam. She carries an armament of 24 guns and can develop 2,400 horse-power. She is commanded by Rear Admiral d'Artheville.

The Hussard is commanded by Capt. Krantz, and is an ordinary dispatch boat. She has an armament of four guns and 600 horse-power engines.

The United States steamship Philadelphia will meet the French vessels and salute them with twenty-one guns.

MINERS OUT FOR BI-WEEKLY PAY

Big Strike in Iowa That May Have Serious Results.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
DES MOINES, Oct. 7.—Every miner in Polk County is out on strike and all the mines are idle. All the mines except that of the Ben Moines Coal Company have conceded the 10 per cent. increase, but refused bi-weekly payment.

The strike is beginning to look serious, as a miner will return to work until every mining company has agreed to all their demands.

An attempt to import miners would result in a serious conflict.

MRS. HEMMINGS OVERJOYED.

"The Evening World's" Readers Place Her Beyond Want.

Her Fund Increased this Morning to Nearly $400.

There is not a happier household in the big city today than that of Mrs. Minnie Hemmings and her four little children, whose pitiful destitution and distress have been so suddenly and completely relieved by the appeal of THE EVENING WORLD to the generosity of its charitable readers.

They have responded nobly to the call, and now the little family is placed beyond the reach of poverty for a long time to come. The wolf has been driven far away from the door.

Today THE EVENING WORLD sent to the widow $113.25 more, which had been contributed to the fund by its readers, and with what she has already received through this medium, as well as sums which have been sent to her directly by sympathetic givers, Mrs. Hemmings has now very nearly $400.

Two days ago her entire wealth consisted of a few pennies earned by her little eight-year-old son, who was trying to support the entire family by selling papers.

"How can I ever thank THE EVENING WORLD for what it has done for me and mine," said Mrs. Hemmings to the reporter who called upon her this morning with the fresh installment to add to her little fund.

"I never expected to have so much money in my life, and even now I can scarcely realize it."

"Everybody has been so good to me that I am almost overcome by so much kindness."

"Hardly an hour passes out one or two visitors drop in and sometimes there are several here at one time. They have brought me so many things that I have scarcely any place to put them in these two little rooms."

"I want to thank through THE EVENING WORLD every one of those good friends from the bottom of my heart."

Mrs. Hemmings said that she had yet made no plans for the future, but that she wished to remain in New York if she could with her children.

Her father's old friends, who have now found her, will no doubt find some better home for her than the rooms in the squalid rear tenement at 307 West Twenty-ninth street, which she now occupies.

She wants to send her children to school and have them properly educated, but realizes that she is not strong enough to work for them and support them.

Chicago and St. Louis Electric Roads.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 7.—Ground was broken here yesterday for the Chicago and St. Louis electric roads. Mr. Adams says that the road will be completed in time for the World's Fair.

Ode to Harriet F. Monroe.

(Andrews, "The Cable.")
Sweet singer of Chicago's fate,
Thine ode Columbian o'er the main
Has followed me to my retreat,
Where on the vine-clad coast of Spain
I sit to wait the dawn of day,
When Columbia's colors
Shall be seen to wave in air,
When I shall see the sun rise
On the land of the brave,
And I shall see the sun set
On the land of the free.
